

Ike Rejects Ban On H-Bomb Tests

Says Pacific Blasts Linked to Missile Program

President Sees
No Logical Reasons
To Reduce Taxes

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today rejected suggestions that the United States call off the hydrogen bomb test in the Pacific next month.

He said such tests are linked inseparably with the development of guided missiles.

Mr. Eisenhower also said he believes no useful purpose would be served now by a visit of Soviet leaders to this country.

And he said he can see no logical reasons for reducing taxes this year.

He told his news conference that as of now he is convinced it would not be in the good interest of America to lower tax rates. He made clear that this attitude would hold even if the federal surplus during the current fiscal year should prove to be considerably larger than the $200 million dollars forecast by the treasury last January.

Finds It Paradoxical

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential aspirant, said Saturday the United States should consider halting the H-bomb test as a gesture toward disarmament.

Stevenson Tuesday also urged greater speed in the development of guided missiles.

Mr. Eisenhower said he found it paradoxical for a person on one hand to urge as hard work as possible on missiles and then ask that work be stopped on the H-bomb.

The President said it would be imprudent to have one without the other.

Other highlights at Mr. Eisenhower's news conference today:

1. He said he had not received from Vice President, Richard M. Nixon what he would consider a definitive answer as to whether Nixon wants to run with him this fall.

2. He got a report this morning from Harold E. Stassen, White House disarmament specialist, on Stassen's talk in London Tuesday night with Khrushchev but had not studied it at sufficient length to comment.

3. He said he thought it was perfectly correct for Democratic strategists to make him, rather than members of his administration, their main target in the forthcoming campaign. He said matter of factly that he is head of the administration and he has been shot at before.

4. He denied he had wretched on 1952 campaign promises to farmers, as charged by Democrats.

5. Asked to comment on his large vote in the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries Tuesday, the President smiled and said he is still astonished anytime anybody votes for him and he is very grateful.

Would Reduce Debt

On taxes, Mr. Eisenhower said that if the government should find itself with a surplus of 1 or 1½ billion dollars when the fiscal year ends on June 30, it would be only common prudence to use it to reduce the national debt.

He noted that for the past two years the administration has had to ask for temporary increases in the 275-billion-dollar debt limit in order to get through the fiscal year. Faced with such a situation, he said, it makes sense to put aside some money to reduce the debt and keep solvent.

That, he said, is what any businessman or housewife would do.

Local Kiwanis Club Leads I-I Dist. in Activities

The Harrisburg Kiwanis club leads all Kiwanis clubs in the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district in activities, according to a recent bulletin from district headquarters.

The bulletin covers the first two months of 1956 and the local club was activities leader for both January and February. This high honor was announced to club members at the regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Guy Price and Willard Morse, representing the Trades and Labor Council from this area, were guests of the Kiwanis last night and Mr. Price discussed the function and responsibility of the council and pledged organized labor's support to any activity that would be of benefit to Saline county.

Charles Rauh was welcomed as a new member of the club.

Next Tuesday, May 1, the Kiwanis club will meet at the Dorris Heights school for the regular meeting, it was announced.

Dale Sullivan To Contest Primary Vote

Will Ask Circuit
Court to Rule on Alleged Irregularities

Dale Sullivan of Harrisburg, beaten by C. L. McCormick of Venna by 159 1-2 votes in their race for Republican state representative from the 59th district in the April 10 primary, today announced he would contest the election.

Sullivan said he was not free to elaborate on the strategy to be used but declared that the contest would center on Johnson county, one of the eight counties in the district.

He said that he would allege various abuses of the election laws including unlawful voting.

Atty. L. M. Hancock and Atty. Joe M. Butler of Harrisburg and Atty. Bill Wolfe of Murphysboro will handle the contest, he stated.

Sullivan said that his petition contesting the result of the election would ask the circuit court to rule on his alleged irregularities.

"We feel like we have a good case," Sullivan stated. "We have gone into all phases of the matter and if we didn't feel we have a good chance to win we would not go to the trouble and expense of a contest."

The canvassed vote showed that McCormick received 15,389 votes to 15,229 1-2 for Sullivan. Gordon Kerr, Brookport incumbent, was top man with 13,485 votes.

Republicans nominated two candidates and nomination is the same as being elected because the Democrats nominated one and three in all will be elected in November.

The 59th district is composed of Saline, Johnson, Williamson, Hamilton, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope and Massac counties.

Ministers Invited To Soil Tour

Ministers of the county are invited to make a tour Friday afternoon of county farms by the Saline County Soil Conservation district, which is sponsoring the tour.

Tom Morgan, conservationist, will conduct the tour, which will show some of the conservation work going on in the county.

Any minister who wants to make the trip should be at Room 6 in the Harrisburg city hall at 1 p. m. Mr. Morgan said this tour will be a forerunner of Soil Stewardship Sunday to be observed May 6 throughout the country.

Seated, left to right, Toby Pelhank, Carl Millis, Robert Mullinix and Duane McCluskey; standing, left to right, Harrison Kibler, treasurer of Dorrisville school district; Louie Coget, Marion Abney, Jack Cox and Bruce Rainups, principal of Dorrisville school. ## Eisenhower Big Winner in Three Primaries

By United Press

Adlai E. Stevenson lost to favorite son Rep. John W. McCormack in the Massachusetts primary and took a back seat to President Eisenhower in the Pennsylvania and Alaska races, late returns showed today.

Stevenson gained some comfort from the fact that his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Estes Kefauver, did not make a good showing in the Pennsylvania primary Tuesday.

The Tennesseean also trailed Stevenson on the basis of early returns in Alaska's first presidential primary in history.

But President Eisenhower appeared the big winner in the two eastern states and Alaska. In Massachusetts, his vote total in the GOP primary out-distanced the combined Democratic votes for McCormack and Stevenson. He piled up a big margin over Stevenson in Pennsylvania and topped a field of four candidates in Alaska.

None of the primaries are binding on delegates to either party convention. The Alaska race was the first out-and-out test of strength between Stevenson and Kefauver since Kefauver scored a stunning upset victory over the Illinoisian in Minnesota.

The Breakdown

The breakdown by primaries: Massachusetts — McCormack, veteran leader of the House, rolled up a 2-to-1 majority over Stevenson in the Bay state's write-in primary. Kefauver had deferred to

Accident Occurs On Rt. 13 at Blacktop Road

Brushy Youth
Received Army
Discharge in February

A Brushy township youth who received his discharge from Army service only last Feb. 10, was killed instantly this morning in an auto crash west of Harrisburg.

Dead is James Derald Lollar, 22 years old, killed at 5:30 a. m. when his auto which he was driving hit a tree at Route 13 and the Carrier Mills blacktop road five miles west of the city.

State Policemen Adolph Sweat and Guthrie Alexander said they learned that the youth was driving his 1951 model automobile north on the Carrier Mills road and that it did not stop where the road meets Route 13, instead crossing the state highway, jumping a ditch and crashing headon into a tree.

Young Lollar sustained a terrible head injury and was killed instantly, the state policeman said. He was still in the auto, his head out the door, when the officers arrived.

Lived With Grandparents

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons was called by the police to the scene and he was making his investigation into the case. He had not set a time for the inquest this morning. State police said they had not ascertained where Lollar had been.

The youth lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis of Galatia Route 2, near Peabody 43 mine in Brushy township. He was the son of the late Dausie Lollar. His mother, Mrs. Sherman Case, resides in Kan-kakee.

The body was taken to the Gaskins funeral home here, then moved to the Miller funeral home at Carrier Mills. It will lie in state at the funeral home.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Boy, 6, Killed Near Eichorn

Fred Patton Jr.
Struck by Car On Way
Home from School

A six-year-old boy, returning from school was killed instantly about 3:45 p. m. Tuesday near his home when struck by a car on State Highway 34, near Eichorn.

Fred Patton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patton, of Eichorn, died of a skull fracture after the hood ornament of the auto pierced the side of his head, Coroner Porter Rose said.

The driver, Bobby Gibbs, 24, of Eichorn, rushed the boy to Rosiclar hospital, but he was dead on arrival.

Deputy Sheriff Adam Parker, who assisted State Trooper Edwin Lezynski in investigation, said the lad was walking home from Eichorn grade school and suddenly darted in the path of Gibbs' car.

Lezynski said the boy was with three other children who remained on the side of the highway. There were skid marks on the road, Lezynski stated.

An inquest will be held at 4 p. m. today in Hosick Funeral Home at Rosiclar where the body was taken.

No charges have been placed against Gibbs, a truck driver at Humm mine in Pope County.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Surviving, besides the parents, is the youth's grandfather, Lloyd Potts of Rosiclar.

Two Polish Officials Arrested

LONDON (AP) — Warsaw Radio announced the arrest of two top members of Poland's Ministry of Public Security. It was the second major purge to hit that Communist country in a week.

The broadcast said the two officials arrested were Roman Romkowski, former deputy minister of public security, and Anatoli Fejgin, a former director in the Ministry of Public Security.

They were accused of depriving "innocent peoples of their freedom," a charge made recently by several Communist countries against officials who heeded too closely to the Stalin line.

Home Talent Play By PTA Saturday At Carrier Mills Grade School

The Carrier Mills P. T. A. is sponsoring a home talent play Saturday, April 28, at 7:30 p. m. The title of the play is "Grandpa's Twin Sister," directed by Mary Ella Sweet, Dorothy McCafferty and Wanda Sweet.

The play is to be in the grade school gymnasium.

Members of the cast are: Grandpa Hatcher, a cantankerous old man, Max Rodocker; Maggie, his Irish cook, Thelma Patton; Louise, his grand niece, Joan DeWitt; Betty, his granddaughter, Beth Cushman; Edgar, his grand nephew, Cecil Rabourn; Clara, Edgar's bossy wife, Seava Rodocker; Ralph Wyatt, a young doctor, Layman Walker; Henry Collins, a smart lawyer, Ben Chaney; Widom Williams, an undying flame, Marge Davis; Adam McPherson, a specialist in saving, Rev. Carl Davis.

The action takes place in the living room of Grandpa Hatcher's home on the outskirts of Carrier Mills.

Grandpa enjoys poor health and the thrill of ordering people about, especially at medicine time, but worries over how to escape the persistent efforts of the Widow Williams to catch him for her fourth husband.

All seem to have Grandpa's health as their concern for one reason or another. Grandpa hits upon the idea to become his own twin sister and fool the lot of them into giving him some peace and quiet. Finally with the aid of a dummy and the help of Betty, Grandpa does some of the strangest things and comes up with too many grandpas.

One will have laughs galore when Maggie Mahoney, played by Thelma Patton, orders Adam McPherson, Rev. Davis, for her husband from the mail order house. In conjunction with the play there will be a kiddie popularity contest. The winners, a boy and a girl, will be determined by one cent a vote. This will be presented between the first and second acts.

Between the second and the third acts a style show will be presented by children ranging from kindergarten to the eighth grade. Mrs. Jean Miller and Mrs. Judy Fife have the presentation of the style show. Mrs. Bud Hearn and Mrs. Laverne Field have charge of the popularity contest. Pictures of the entries in the kiddie contest are being displayed in the Harris appliance store window this week.

Illinois Agents Confiscate 115,000 Rancid Eggs; Charge Law Violation

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — Illinois agents today confiscated and destroyed 115,000 eggs destined for Chicago bakeries which authorities said were rancid and a "stinking mess."

Lowell D. Oranger, superintendent of the state division of foods, dairies and standards, said the farm's operation was the "most flagrant violation of the Illinois egg law that I have ever seen."

Oranger said the eggs on the Blue Top Turkey Farm on U. S. 20 near here had "turned rancid and the yolks had all dissolved down to a stinking mess." The farm is owned by Carl Bauer of Oak Park. Officials charged that Bauer would buy rejected incubator eggs from Missouri, Iowa and Kansas, then have his employees break and strain the eggs and can them for sale to Chicago bakeries.

Oranger said the eggs had a high bacteria count and "weren't fit for food." The superintendent likened Bauer's operations to the horsemeat scandal in Chicago several years ago when several meat dealers were found to be passing off horsemeat as beef.

Information about Bauer's operations will be turned over to the DuPage County State's Atty. William L. Guild, Oranger said. Bauer could be charged with handling eggs unfit for human consumption.

Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast

And took from us a shining light
We miss that light, and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill,
Down here we mourn but not in vain;
For up in heaven we'll meet again.

Edward Robinson Jr. Admits Taking Pills in Quarrel

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Edward G. Robinson Jr. confessed today he swallowed four sleeping pills after a lovers' quarrel so his girl friend "would feel sorry for him."

The 22-year-old son of the famous "tough guy" actor, now in a hit play on Broadway, told the story of his unhappy night in an interview at his bedside at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Police dubbed the episode a "suicide attempt." His pals blamed difficulties with his parents and his concern over his role in Marilyn Monroe's movie, "Bus Stop."

But Eddie Jr. explained with embarrassment that he hadn't meant to kill himself at all.

"I took only four pills, but I had a few drinks and the combination knocked me out," he said.

"I had had an argument with my girl. I did this to get sympathy from her. I had only intended for a friend to come over and find me but after I phoned him he called the police. Next thing I knew I'm in the hospital having my stomach pumped out."

Six members of the Midway I. O. O. F. lodge No. 942 attended the 137th anniversary of Independent Order of Odd Fellows in America in Collinsville Saturday night, April 21.

They were Orville Hudnell, Clarence Dixon, Paul Ewell, Benjamin Knight, Finley Barger and Earl Hancock.

The first degree was conferred by a degree team of 35 from Canada.

To cure malignant fevers, the Chinese sometimes swallow powdered rhinoceros horns or pills made with tiger whiskers.

BRUSHY

Good Neighbor Club Elects New Officers
The Good Neighbor club, beginning its ninth year, met at the home of Mrs. Charles Lockwood Wednesday.

Mrs. Lee Allen led the opening song. Mrs. Dean Guye offered prayer and the roll call was answered with "my favorite flower" with the rose being the flower most often called. Mrs. Dean Guye received the door prize, a set of ice box dishes.

The hostess gave blooming potted begonias as prizes for the various games conducted by Mrs. Clifford Hafford and Mrs. A. P. Gollher.

The new slate of officers is as follows: President, Mrs. L. L. Riegel; vice president, Mrs. John C. Small; secretary, Mrs. W. L. Gollher; treasurer, Mrs. Dean Guye; reporter, Miss Mary Margaret Small.

Mrs. A. J. Droit will install the officers at the May meeting.

The club voted a donation to the cancer drive.

The hostess served sandwiches, potato chips, wafers, coffee and Cokes to the members and one guest, Mrs. Jessie Miller of Eldorado.

Mrs. Roy Hudson Entertains Galatia Home Bureau Unit

Mrs. Roy Hudson entertained the Galatia Home Bureau unit Tuesday.

Two minor topics were given, "The Use of Sour Milk, Buttermilk and Cream," by Mrs. Max Cockrum, and "Courtesy in the Home" by the hostess.

Ten members answered roll call by telling "What they liked about their neighborhood." Mrs. Pete Gardner and Mrs. Paul Roberts gave an interesting lesson on "Window Treatment."

Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Joe Hatcher and Mrs. Fanno Bledig reported having made 154 cancer bandages. The unit gave an offering for the cancer drive.

The hostess served chocolate cake, whipped cream, coffee, tea, and candy at the social hour.

The following names were unintentionally omitted from the guest list of those attending the wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson Sr. last week:

Eight Children in Family Die in Fire

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (U.P.) — Eight children of one family burned to death Tuesday night in this city's worst fire.

The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Curtis, ranged in age from infancy to 17 years. The parents and two other children escaped without serious injury.

Firemen reported that the blaze in the Curtis home started about 8 p. m. EST. A Fire Department official said the blaze, which "almost immediately consumed" the dwelling, was believed to have originated from a light meter.

Evanston Girl Will Be Crowned Mother's Day Queen at U. of I.

Virginia J. Thompson, 21, Evanston, Ill., will be crowned May 5 during ceremonies of Campus Mother's Day. She is a senior in the College of Commerce and Business Administration, majoring in marketing.

Uniform Maker Refuses Answer on Query Of Aid by Nixon Campaign Manager

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Uniform maker Herman Kravitz refused today to say whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager interceded with the Justice Department when Kravitz was accused of stealing government cloth.

The pudgy, 35-year-old Atlantic City, N. J., contractor told the Senate investigating subcommittee that he hired Murray Chotiner of Beverly Hills, Calif., because he was interested in moving a clothing plant to the Los Angeles area. But he refused to say whether that was the only reason. He based his refusal on grounds his answer might tend to incriminate him.

Chotiner was Nixon's manager in the 1952 campaign and in previous elections.

Subcommittee counsel Robert E. Kennedy asked, "Did Chotiner take any action in the Justice Department for you?"

Kravitz refused to answer. Kravitz also refused, on the same grounds, to say whether he ever bribed any government officials in connection with clothing contracts.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) told him repeatedly that "you have been accused of bribing government officials . . . of graft corruption and wrongdoing. Do you want to confirm or deny it?"

As often as McCarthy asked, the witness refused to answer, saying that to do so might tend to incriminate him.

"If you don't answer," McCarthy snapped, "no one can reach any conclusion but that you have been engaging in these activities." Kravitz still refused.

Eisenhower Big Winner In Three Primaries

McCormack, but still got more than 2,000 votes. McCormack was backed by the state party chairman, but some prominent Democrats, including Sen. John F. Kennedy, were in Stevenson's corner.

President Eisenhower was outpolling all Democrats, however, and even got more than 1,000 votes in the Democratic primary.

The GOP also got the most votes in the 1952 primary.

Massachusetts sends 38 GOP delegates with one vote each and 80 Democratic delegates with a half-vote each to the national conventions.

Pennsylvania — The President, helped by brisk GOP fights on the state level, piled up a 5-3 margin over Stevenson.

Republicans hailed the vote as a sign that the Keystone state will go Republican this fall.

Stevenson, however, was well ahead of the 152,002 votes cast in the 1952 Democratic primary, when the party was also outpolling. He was unopposed on the ballot, but Kefauver supporters waged a write-in campaign.

Alaska — Stevenson rolled up a fast lead over Kefauver with only a few of the territory's divisions reporting. Mr. Eisenhower, facing token Knowland opposition, also gathered a fast-mounting total.

Early returns gave Stevenson 227 votes, Kefauver 136, Mr. Eisenhower 318, and Knowland 14.

Knowland was a reluctant candidate in the Pennsylvania and Alaska primaries. His name was filed before President Eisenhower entered the campaign and he has since backed the President in all races.

Family of Nine Asks $220,000 in Dram Shop Suit

DECATUR, Ill. (U.P.) — An entire Macon, Ill., family of seven children and their parents sued two Decatur taverns and two Pana, Ill., men for $220,000 damages under the dram shop act Tuesday.

The father, Pearl Thomason, 41, charged he suffered a broken ankle and other injuries when he was attacked by Robert Morganson, 26, and Thurman Green, 24, both of Pana. Thomason said the assault took place in a Macon tavern in March, 1955.

His suit asked $20,000 damages from each man.

Thomason's wife, Wilma, called for $180,000 damages from Mrs. Goldie Karas, operator of the Merchants Tavern in Decatur, and Opal L. Taylor, operator of the Alamo tavern.

Mrs. Thomason said the taverns caused Morganson and Green to become intoxicated. She said this led to the alleged attack on her husband.

Carrier Mills Cage Players, Cheerleaders Guest of Lions

Members of the Carrier Mills high school basketball squads, their coaches and cheerleaders and sponsor were guests of the Carrier Mills Lions club Monday evening at the annual athletic banquet.

The banquet, served by members of the Eastern Star, and program were held in the Masonic temple with approximately 95 in attendance. The public was invited and many of the parents and friends of the school were present.

Varsity players—Oliver Rollins, James Reid, J. C. Storms, Harold Fitts, Vernon Rollins, Lawrence Coffield, James Rouse, Lewis Williams, Richard McNew and Carl Manier—were introduced by Coach Claude Shelton.

Assistant Coach Frankie Blackman introduced the "B" squad—Jim Keys, Bob Mitchell, Richard Stewart, Jackie Keene, Len Turner, Chuck Reeder, Bill Nolen, Raydean Davis and Jerry Randolph. Managers during the year were Carl Murphy for the varsity squad and Ronald King and Kay Don Rinsell.

Cheerleaders, introduced by their sponsor, Mrs. June Priest, were Varsity—Pat Flynn, Jackie Heat-on, Janice Harrowood, Mary Holmes and Phoebe Helmes, and "B" team—Shirley Pyle, Mary Murphy, Mary Pyle, Joan Dunn and Patsy Dunn.

Following the introductions Van McDonald, member of the Lions club, showed pictures made in various countries of Europe while he was with the Armed Forces in the European theater of operations.

The tables were beautifully decorated with arrangements of iris, tulips and a yellow flowering shrub. Small megaphones decorated the mint and nut cups and behind the speaker's table was a large Wild Cat banner in Purple and Gold, hanging over a basket of spring flowers.

Decorations were in charge of Mrs. Harold James, home economics instructor at the Carrier Mills high school.

The invocation was given by Rev. Ernest Ammon, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the address of welcome was by Lions President Morse Hill. Group singing was led by Leighman Walker and Warren Jennings, principal of CMHS, spoke briefly.

No-Hitter By King As Bull Dogs Blank Galatia Nine, 18-0

Jerry King, Bull Dog right-hander, pitched a no-hitter yesterday at the town park diamond as Harrisburg blanked Galatia high school, 18 to 0.

King struck out nine of the 16 batters who faced him in the five inning contest, walking but one man.

Harrisburg got 12 hits off Edwards, Galatia pitcher, in running up the big score. The locals scored two runs in the first, 10 in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Tonight Jim Molinarolo is scheduled to take the mound when Carrier Mills comes here for a game.

Bill Hatcher will hurl Friday when the locals go to McLeansboro. The Foxes beat Harrisburg, 1 to 0, in a previous encounter.

Wilson Visit Spurs Speculation on Football at OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P)—An unannounced visit by Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Western Conference Commissioner, today aroused new speculation on the fate of Ohio State football.

Wilson, here for his fourth visit in recent weeks, met today with Ohio State University President Howard L. Bevis and faculty representative Dr. Wendell Postle. The nature of the conference was not revealed.

Wilson's visit followed that of Jack Ryan, special investigator for the Big Ten, on Monday for talks with Athletic Director Dick Larkins, Coach Woody Hayes and Freshman Coach Ernie Godfrey.

An investigation into Ohio State athletics began after publication of a national magazine article which said Hayes allegedly gave or loaned money to his football players.

The investigation could result in anything from no action to suspension of Ohio State from the Big Ten.

committee were A. J. Henshaw, Leighman Walker and Warren Jennings.

Charge IBC Held Fighters With Big Loans

NEW YORK (U-P)—The International Boxing Club, operating like a finance company except that it charged no interest, gave big loans to champion fighters which made it virtually impossible for other promoters to deal with them for bouts, the federal government charged today.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Lawrence Gochberg, directing the government's anti-monopoly suit against the IBC, stated that a total of $451,042 in loans was made to champions, top contenders and their managers within a four year period, from 1949 to 1953. Gochberg said that the loans represented advances on purses for major fights and that the government as such did not regard this as objectionable.

"But combined with the other practices of the IBC it made it difficult for other promoters to get championship matches," Gochberg said.

The fighters involved and the money they received in advance payments were: Kid Gavilan $35,000; Jersey Joe Walcott $15,000; Joe Louis $30,750; Johnny Bratton $45,812; and Rocky Graziano $9,750.

The managers and the amounts they received were: Ike Bernstein $11,784; Bill Daly $12,500; Jack Kearns $8,250; George Gainford $9,250; Frank (Blinky) Palermo $1,000; Hymie Wallman $12,500.

Salem Youth Tosses Fifth No-Hitter

SALEM, Ill. (U-P)—Jerry Mercer pitched his fifth no-hitter in six starts for Salem High School Tuesday, blanking Bridgeport 12-0.

The game was shortened to five innings because of the lopsided score. Mercer faced 15 batters, minimum. He struck out 13, and the other two popped out and grounded out to the infield.

Mercer had four no-hitters in a row before he finally was touched for a hit by Flora last week. That is the only safety he has given up all season.

Scouts from the New York Giants, Kansas City Athletics, Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Redlegs and St. Louis Cardinals have taken a look at him.

Search Fortress Tunnels for Missing Soldier

VERDUN, France (U-P)—American troops and French resistance fighters searched the miles-long underground passageways of an ancient French fortress today for a young American soldier who went inside four days ago for a look around and vanished.

The soldier, Specialist Second Class Gerald Dunnigan, 22, of Winimico, Va., was feared to have injured himself in a fall inside the abandoned fortress and wandered in a daze into one of the unmap-ped corridors that twist for miles.

Barbara Lou, his 21-year-old wife who is as freckle-faced as Dunnigan, kept vigil outside the squat grey fortress, an abandoned relic that sits under the brow of a low hill, almost invisible to ene-

Ken Boyer Sparks Cardinals In National League Climb; Leads 5-3 Win Over Reds

By United Press
Cloutin' Ken Boyer, sporting a stratospheric .556 batting average, is not only leading the majors in hitting but also the surging St. Louis Cardinals in their climb toward the top of the National League.

Boyer, who batted only .264 last season, drove in four runs and was pretty much the whole show in a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday night which boosted the Cardinals within a half game of first place.

In his last 20 times up, Boyer has connected safely 13 times. He tagged Redleg starter Pat Scanlebury for his third homer of the season with two on in the first inning Tuesday night and drove in another run in the seventh with a single off reliever Hal Jeffcoat.

No Cardinal pitcher has gone the distance yet this year but the way Boyer has been hitting, it hardly has been noticed.

Poses Second Victory

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who posted his second victory at the expense of Cincinnati, has come the closest of any St. Louis hurler. For the second time this year, he lasted until the ninth inning and then needed help from rubber-armed Ellis Kinder.

Mizell gave up six of Cincinnati's seven hits and struck out five, shutting out the Redlegs until the eighth when ex-Card Ray Jablonski smashed his fifth homer with two on.

The New York Yankees, continuing their fast getaway in the American League, defeated the Washington Senators, 4-1, as young Johnny Kucks gained his second triumph.

Southpaw Chuck Stobbs, the only pitcher to beat the Yanks so far this year, was the victim of home runs by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra. Bauer blasted his homer with two on in the fourth inning and Berra slammed his fourth of the year with the bases empty in the seventh.

Kucks spaced seven Senator hits and was aided by five double plays, four of them by the same combination of Gil McDougald, Jerry Lumpe and Bill Skowron. Lumpe took part in all five double plays and had nine assists and five putouts in all.

Only One Loss

The victory was the Yankees' sixth in seven starts this year. Veteran Steve Gromek held the Kansas City Athletics to six hits as his Detroit Tiger teammates rapped out 10 hits, including three homers, in a 7-4 victory.

Bill Tuttle drove in four runs with a homer and a single while Ray Boone and Reno Bertoia, who looks like the answer to Detroit's second base problem, also homered. Bertoia collected three of the Tigers' hits. Arnie Portocarrero was the loser.

Inclement weather caused postponement of four games. The game between Boston and Baltimore was wiped out in the American League while in the National League, the games between Milwaukee and Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh, and Brooklyn and Philadelphia, were called off.

Crash of Private Plane

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Authorities today investigated the crash of a private plane which killed three socially prominent Cincinnatians. Their bodies were found near here Tuesday night, ending a two-day search for the wreckage.

The victims, who were returning to Cincinnati from a weekend in New York, were identified as Joanne Williams Heekin, 22, a secretary; Richard T. Bethell, 29, a pilot and a chemical firm salesman, and Ward Mathis, 30, an assistant professor at the University of Cincinnati and business manager of a Cincinnati firm.

3 Fires Leave 17 Persons Dead

By United Press

Three all-consuming fires killed 17 persons and left seven missing Tuesday night and early today.

The worst holocaust was at Philadelphia, where flames raced through a tenement house and killed nine persons, six of them believed to be children, early today.

Eight more children, all members of the same family, died when their home went up in flames at Corner Brook, Nfld., Tuesday night.

Still more victims were feared in the general alarm blaze which swept the 150-room Carver Hotel at Warren, Pa., shortly after midnight.

Another fire destroyed the lavish Villa Moderne night club near the Chicago suburb of Glenview. But there were no deaths or injuries.

Damage in the rash of blazes was estimated at close to $800,000.

Births

Cairo Presbytery Council to Meet Here on April 27

The Presbytery Council of Presbyterian Men of the Presbytery of Cairo will hold its spring meeting Friday, April 27, at the Presbyterian church in Harrisburg. It has been announced by Jack Hale of Ridgway, council president. The meeting will get underway at 6:30 p. m. with a dinner.

A former Harrisburg resident, Jack Bircher of Evansville, will be the guest speaker, using as his theme "Your Reasonable Service." Theme of the meeting is "Stewardship."

Mr. Bircher, who left Harrisburg with his family as a boy several years ago, is a son of Jack Bircher, former men's clothing store operator on South Main street in this city.

The speaker is a layman of the First Presbyterian church of Evansville and chairman of the committee of stewardship and promotion of the Presbytery of Vincennes.

Reservations for the dinner and meeting may be made with Rev. William Burroughs, pastor of the Harrisburg Presbyterian church, until noon Thursday.

Armstrong Explains New Classification

CHICAGO (AP)—Selective Service today explained why 100,000 Illinois youths have been reclassified from 1C to 4A.

Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, said the change was made because Classes 1C (discharged) and 1C (reserve) were abolished by a recent change in regulations.

Armstrong said Class 4A is for those who have completed military service, and youths who have flooded local draft boards with inquiries about their new 4A classification needn't worry about it.

Fire Destroys Lavish Club at Glenview

CHICAGO (AP)—A spectacular fire today destroyed the lavish Villa Moderne night club near suburban Glenview. Damage was estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000.

The flames broke out in grease in a kitchen charcoal broiler last night. About 200 diners were in the night club's four dining rooms at the time. Many of them casually finished their meals before leaving. No one was injured.

Senate Staff Report Hits Power of GM

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate staff investigators charged today that the financial strength of the huge General Motors Corp. gives it "a marked advantage" over competing auto, bus and locomotive manufacturers.

The charge highlighted a staff report on a long "case study" of GM by the Senate Monopoly subcommittee last year. Purpose of the study was to determine GM's impact on the national economy.

Harlow H. Curcio, head of GM, and other top officials of the concern defended its business and operations at month-long public hearings which ended in December.

The report was made under the direction of Subcommittee Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

It said that GM's wholly owned financing subsidiary, General Motors Acceptance Corp., has deposits in 157 cities.

"General Motors has used its financial power to obtain advantages over competitors in the sale of automobiles, buses and diesel locomotives," a summary of the report said.

Galatia Senior Class to Present 'Just A Dumb Dora'

The Senior class of Galatia high school will present the play, "Just A Dumb Dora," Friday, April 27, with the program starting at 7 p. m. Faculty sponsors of the Senior class are Mrs. Jane Wickham and Glenn Dunn. In addition to the play the music department will present a spring concert, consisting of both vocal and instrumental numbers. Mrs. Pat Lee is director of music at Galatia high school.

When Truly Wise (Charlie White) and his bride, Dottie (Donna Eubanks), arrive at Float Inn, they are looking forward to a happy honeymoon. Shortly after their arrival, Myron Dunn (Freddie Arnold), best man at the Wises' wedding, appears to warn Truly that he has been accused of stealing thousands of dollars from the bank where he (Truly) is employed. Truly decides to go back home and clear his name, without letting Dottie know about it. Dottie is so upset at Truly's disappearance she decides to go back to mother.

Worth Mohr (Juanita Williams), just a dumb Dora, arrives at the Inn by mistake looking for work. She hasn't any funds, so Bonita Kade (Kay Stone), in charge of Float Inn, allows Worth to occupy the now empty bridal suite for a week. Worth is mistaken for Dottie Wise, and the fat is in the fire. Further complications arise with the appearance of Marina Lubow (Phyllis Nevius), a singer, and Mrs. Alonzo Grady (Janice Edwards), a writer, and domineering wife of Alonzo Grady (Scotty Abney). Worth, in her decidedly naive way, causes the arrest of an innocent man, locks the wrong man up in the garage, and has the inn in an uproar. Even Fergus Murphy (Eugene Cluck) a detective, is confused by Worth, before the situation is finally settled happily for all concerned.

Mrs. Jane Wickham and Glenn Dunn are sponsors of the Senior class.

The Music dept. of the Galatia high school will present its annual spring concert, April 27, at 7 p. m., preceding the Senior play.

The program will consist of several selections by the band, chorus, girls' sextette and trio. Mrs. Pat Lee is music director.

Dentist Says They're Never Too Young

CHICAGO — A mother should brush her young child's teeth the same as she washes his face and ears, because tooth decay can start at the age of two, a St. Louis dentist told a recent meeting of the Chicago Dental society.

Dr. Roy M. Wolff also suggested that children of 2½ are not too young to be taken to the dentist for examination, cleaning and X-raying of teeth because today's children are eating candy, chewing gum and consuming soft drinks more than ever before.

Too often parents do not realize the importance of primary or first teeth, Dr. Wolff said.

He explained that baby teeth must be kept in good condition to keep proper space for second teeth, to maintain the dental arch, to aid correct speech and to help in the chewing of food and proper digestion.

Power Mowers in Widespread Use

CHICAGO — A survey shows that there are almost 10,000,000 power lawn mowers in use in the United States.

The total of 9,770,000 at the end of 1955 represents an increase of 27 per cent over 1954, when there were 7,660,000 manicuring the nation's lawns.

The power lawn mower business is largely a postwar development, and has boomed with suburban expansion. In 1946, the first year for which figures were available, 140,000 power mowers were sold.

In 1955 sales of all types totaled about 2,400,000 units. At an estimated average price of $100, this would amount to a retail volume of $240,000,000.

R. T. Lueloff, president of Power Products, said a consumer study by his firm indicates 2,500,000 homeowners will buy power mowers in 1956, and that nearly half that number will have owned one previously.

In what is believed to be the first such commercial use of fly ash, the Northern States Power Co. is sponsoring construction of an experimental road built of a fly-ash limestone soil aggregate. Fly ash, a residue from pulverized coal burned to produce power, also has been found useful in making concrete and in the production of such things as construction blocks and battery boxes.

Crime In the U. S.

Editorial
By KEN VETTER, O. GILMORE
The cold statistics of crime in the U. S. seem almost impossible to comprehend in terms of everyday living. Yet they demand the honest attention of every citizen. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has said "crime has taken on such proportions that one out of every 17 homes will be victimized this year."

This frightening estimate is based on figures from crime reports for the first six months of 1955 included in closed door testimony by Hoover before a House Appropriations Subcommittee on Feb. 1. It is noteworthy, however, that his now-released statements contain one bit of encouraging information. Hoover indicates that for the first time in seven years crime has taken a slight downward turn.

The FBI estimates that 1,128,350 major crimes were committed during the first half of 1955 which is 7.90 less than during the same period for 1954. This is only a 0.5 decrease which Hoover considers "negligible."

If the reports continue to follow the same pattern, 1955 will be the fourth year in a row that major crimes have exceeded the two million mark.

Perhaps even more dramatically, the statistics mean a major crime was committed every 13.9 seconds, and every 4.2 minutes there was a crime of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill.

These figures are not stated in order to frighten. Rather they should be a forceful and fresh reminder to all that society is far from perfect. The slight drop in crime is a welcome sign, but we have a very long way to go before this menace in America is halted. Our local police officers deserve every help and encouragement.

A Moment of Vision

Times of peace with their paper whirlwinds can dull the agonizing realities of what war is like. Then with a flash, a news article can recreate those times of battle in all their horror.

A small item from Bonn, Germany, had the qualities of this momentary stroke of vision. The mystery of who bombed the university city of Freiburg in 1940 was being cleared up.

The Nazis did it through a navigational error in the clouds. Not only was war's bloody senselessness unmasked by this ghastly mistake in which 57 persons, including 22 children, died, but the results were equally horrifying.

Instead of admitting an error and fixing the individual blame, the truth was concealed.

Not only that. The event had propaganda value. So it was used to touch off a flame of revenge bombings of British towns. Hundreds more innocents died.

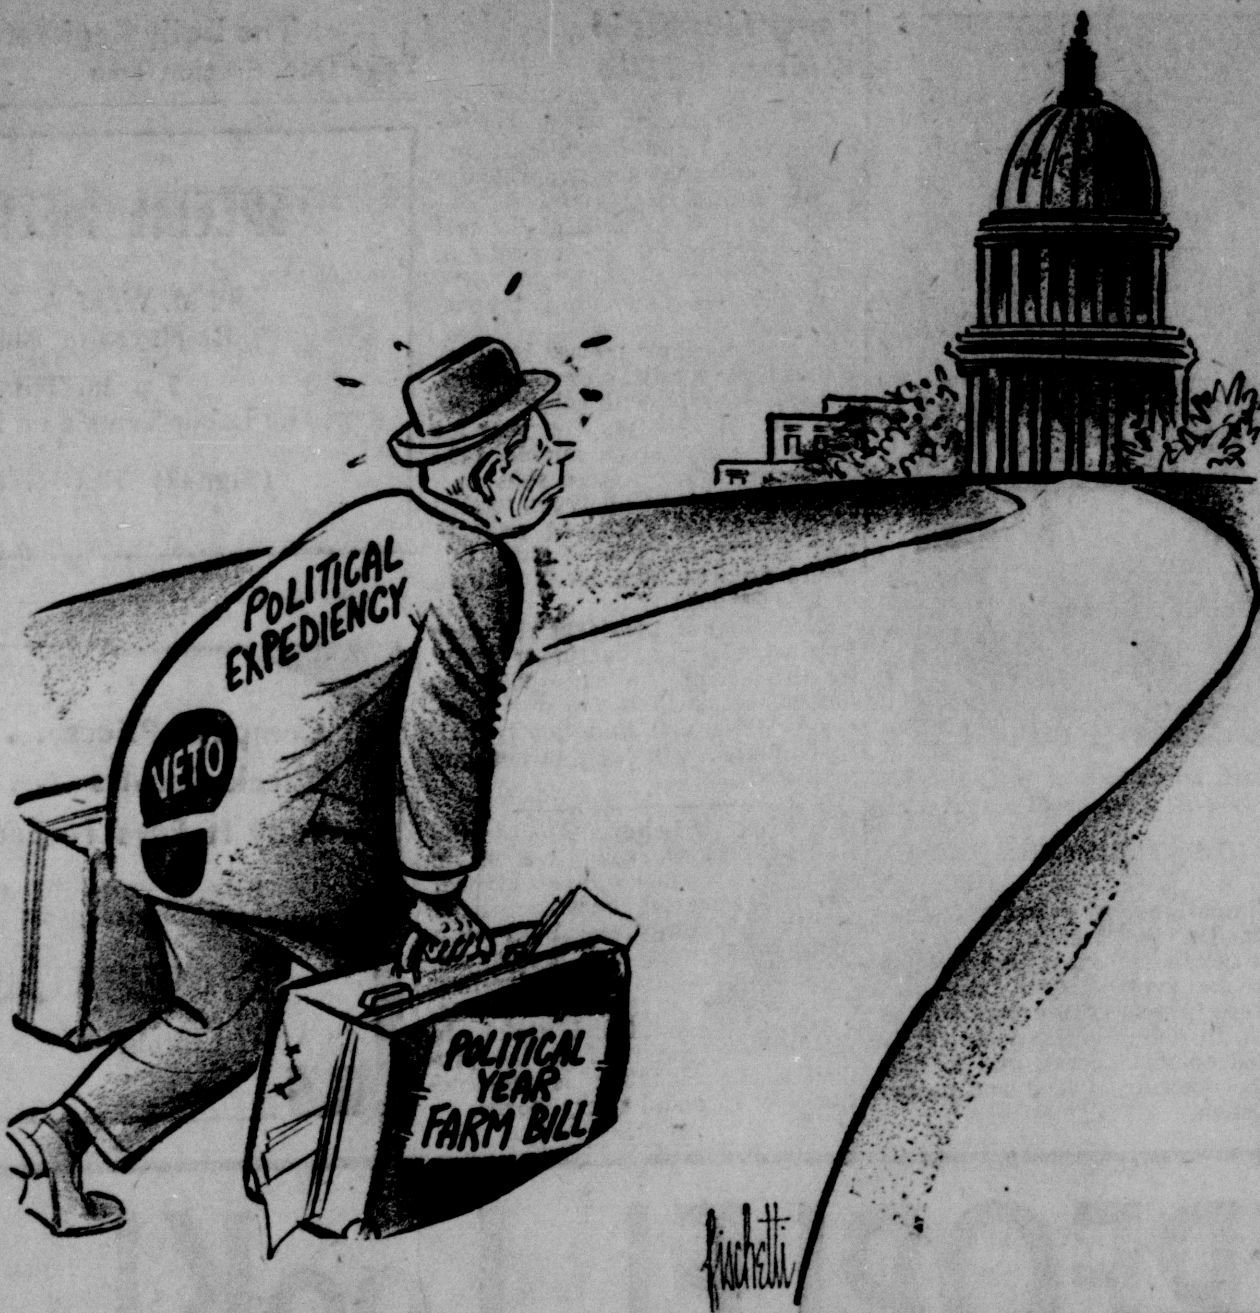

Irresponsible slaughter compounded with lies and murder, it was human conduct at its worst. It reveals war in its stark insanity.

The Road Back

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Senator Alben Barkley Is Subjected To Income Tax Investigation; He Didn't Appreciate Clapper Awards Of News-Men Who Exposed His Cabinet Members; FDR Jr., Throws Away His Political Future.

WASHINGTON. — Senator Alben Barkley, the venerable Veep, is now 79 years old. He was born just 12 years after the end of the Civil War, and he has served his country in the House of Representatives beginning just before the first World War, and as senator and vice president.

Because of his age and because he underwent a cataract operation, Barkley cannot see well. No one, however, would have known it as he watched him speak almost impromptu at the Woodrow Wilson dinner last week. Though he had a written text before him and though he generally followed that text, Barkley's memory is such that he did not have to read it.

However, while he was referring to "government of money for money and by money," suggesting that "massive retaliation" had become "massive confusion" and asking Secretary Dulles whether "agonizing reappraisal" had not become "all agony," an intensive investigation was being conducted by the Eisenhower administration of Senator Barkley's income taxes.

Internal Revenue agents have been visiting Barkley's lecture agents, looking over their books and checking on every lecture fee ever received by the elder statesman of Kentucky.

For many years Barkley has filled a certain number of lecture engagements. Many senators and cabinet members with no private income have done so ever since William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State under Wilson, and the late Senator Bob La Follette Sr., went on lecture tours.

Barkley has no private income or law firm. He has been dependent solely upon his Senate salary and his lecture fees. And for many years his first wife, an invalid, required a day and night nurse. So Barkley made both ends meet by speaking.

It is obvious from the attitude of the Internal Revenue agents probing Barkley's taxes that they don't relish their job. They are carrying out an assignment given them from up above. Senator Barkley has told his lecture agents to open up their books and show the agents everything they want to see.

Note—There has been no investigation of the gift taxes that should have been paid by those contributing $18,000 to the personal expense fund of another vice president.

CLAPPER AWARDS
President Eisenhower sat at the right of the presiding officer at the American Society of Newspaper Editors dinner while the Raymond Clapper Memorial awards were given to deserving newsmen. The awards were handed out by Robert K. Walsh, who first announced that honorable mention went to William H. Lawrence of the New York Times for his series of articles exposing the conflict of interest of Harold Talbott, that led to his resignation as Eisenhower's Secretary of the Air Force.

There was heavy applause. President Eisenhower, however, did not applaud. He sat grim, nervously drumming his fingers.

First prize was next given to Clark Mollenhoff of the Des Moines Register Tribune for his series of articles leading to the reversal of Secretary Benson after Benson fired Wolf Ladejinsky as a security risk.

Again there was heavy applause. Again President Eisenhower did not applaud. He sat grim, drumming his fingers.

FDR JR.
The most politically promising member of the Roosevelt family sold his birthright the other day for a mess of pottage.

Specifically, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., sold his political future for a $60,000 fee as a partner with a registered agent for Dictator Franco of Spain and Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

FDR Jr. had been a member of Congress from New York City and candidate for attorney general of New York State. He was considered the man who could really go places in the Roosevelt family, perhaps land in the White House—the third Roosevelt in the history of the U. S.

But he has now become a partner of Charles Patrick Clark, long the $75,000-a-year agent for Dictator Franco; latterly also the lobbyist for Trujillo.

Inside fact is that Clark was having a hard time holding this juicy lobbying plum. The new Spanish ambassador, astute Don Jose Maria Arelliza, was not entirely sold on him, figured Clark had antagonized too many people. So in order to win liberal support, Clark reached out and embraced FDR Jr. — for $60,000 a year.

Shortly afterward, opponents of the Dominican dictatorship in New York City announced they would picket the big Democratic dinner in the Commodore Hotel presided over by young Roosevelt. The picketing was to be in protest against the disappearance of Columbia University Professor Dr. Jesus De Galindez, Dominican exile and enemy of Trujillo, in New York on March 12—a disappearance still unsolved but generally attributed to Dominican government agents.

The picket threat looked as if it might seriously embarrass the Democratic dinner, when Carmine Di Sapio, shrewd head of Tammany, stepped in. He held a meeting with Dominican exiles, pointed out that if they went ahead with their plans they would be hurting some of their best friends, Governor Averell Harri-man of New York and Mayor Robert Wagner, who had fought die-

June 6—"History and Growth of Unions," with the discussion leader Tom Cosgrove of New York City, educational director for the Textile Workers Union.

June 20—"Responsibilities and Privileges of a Labor Leader," tatorships all their lives and who were to be at the dinner.

So the Dominicans, who by this time had been joined by Spanish exiles, called off the protest against FDR, Jr.

A lot of people, however, will remember it, if Roosevelt ever runs for office again.

with Fern Rauch, consultant and conciliator for the Illinois State Department of Labor, the speaker. This will be a dinner meeting, held in the SIU cafeteria.

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American caught by the Nazi invasion of Greece in 1941, is trying to deliver information to British Intelligence at Athens. Germans are tracking him down. Mike escapes with a girl Eleftheria from one village and has taken refuge with another Greek Barba-Leonidas, who lost a son in the war.

XVII

The night's restful sleep in the soft down bed worked wonders on Mike's tired bones. He sat down hungrily to the dawn meal with Barba-Leonidas and awaited the arrival of Eleftheria. His mind was filled with plans to get to Athens. The giant remained silent except for his slurping of the boiling-hot coffee. As the meal drew to a close a feeling of alarm swept over Mike.

"Where is Eleftheria?" he asked. "She went back to Darnica." "What do you mean she went back to Darnica? Did you send her?" "She went back. What difference does it make why she went? She went."

"It makes a lot of difference to me!"

"Don't get excited. She promises to return on the Sabbath."

The Sabbath came. Mike awoke early and anxiously awaited the arrival of Eleftheria. By mid-morning his anxiety changed to suspicion. Barba-Leonidas became strangely silent. By afternoon he knew full well that one of two things had happened. Eleftheria was going to see that he stayed in Kaloghriani or Barba-Leonidas was going to see to it.

In the early afternoon Mike had reached the breaking point and demanded to know what was going on. Barba-Leonidas, who could not lie with a straight face, refused to answer. He selected a rifle and stomped from the cottage announcing that he was going rabbit hunting.

Mike turned to Despo. The aged, wrinkled woman looked up sheepishly from her weaving.

"Eleftheria—where is she?"

Despo shook her head.

Mike stood over her. "Tell me where she is!"

"She was here!" Despo cried. "She was here in mid-week. You were in the fields. Barba-Leonidas sent her away."

"Why?"

"Because you are his son and you can never leave."

Mike fumed about the cottage for 15 minutes. Despo sank back into silence, but her hands nearly flew in nervousness over the weaving machine. Barba-Leonidas had him trapped. He had no way of getting to Darnica—did not even know its general direction. He realized, too, that he'd never get the information from anyone in Kaloghriani. Mike had only one choice—to find Leonidas and have it out.

He stormed from the cottage in search of the hunting party.

He climbed till afternoon when the mountain began to grow steep.

Mike waded his way to a balding shoulder near the top, crossed a rocky field, and there a peak loomed but a few hundred yards up a sheer wall.

A breathtaking sight burst below him as he stood atop the mountain with the thrill of a conqueror. To the east the blue Aegean Sea and her islands and to the west the rippling regiments of hills.

Mike stood and looked—and remembered.

He saw 17 men at elegant desks, or working at files, or attending cocktail parties or hobnobbing with German officers. The British were probably desperate for these 17 names. He had been overcautious in wasting weeks. He didn't know. But leave the hills he must. Bullying Leonidas would be no simple chore. Only yesterday Leonidas led the village in burning a German order for wheat allotment.

The only clear plan he could formulate would be to send Eleftheria to Athens to contact Dr. Harry Thackeray. She wasn't the world's brightest and if there was any trouble she'd never be able to cope with it.

Do I have the right to make a pawn of her—risk her life? he asked himself. Many people have already died because of the Stergiou list. Life was a small thing in the struggle to find the names. Then, Mike argued with himself, Eleftheria would want to go to Athens if she knew what was at stake. One cold fact remained. Her life or his was unimportant in the ultimate delivery of the 17 names.

Mike took one last look at the view and started down the mountainside.

It was dark when he reached the cottage. Barba-Leonidas was pale when Mike entered. Then, upon seeing Mike, his face broke into an expression of relief which belied his effort to pretend he was unconcerned.

"You stupid Englezos. I was about to go out and look for you. Do not go roaming these hills without me in the future."

"Tomorrow you go to Darnica and get Eleftheria."

"Sit down and eat and don't talk so much."

Mike grabbed Leonidas by the shirt. "You go to Darnica or I go."

Barba-Leonidas looked to Despo and shrugged. "Mad—he's gone mad."

"All right, then. I'm going—right now."

He stared at Mike with an expression of hurt written all over his bearded face. "What is the matter with you, Jay?"

"Believe me, my friend. I have great love for you, but I must get to Athens."

"You—you want to leave? You really want to leave?"

"I must leave."

Illinois Tax Collections Up

SPRINGFIELD — The state is earning fatter paychecks. The Revenue Department reported today.

Tax collections for March brought in $39,481,288, an increase of $6,534,315 over the same month a year ago.

Most of the increase came from the 2 1/2 per cent sales tax which produced $20,558,672, compared to $15,665,261 in March, 1955, when the tax was only 2 per cent.

The new 2 1/2 per cent use tax on out-of-state purchases brought in $1,274,947 for March.

Total tax collections for the first three months of 1956 amounted to $128,891,643, an increase of $22,926,069 over the same period last year.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: The Tragedy of the Passenger Pigeon

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
A very old man living near Olive Branch in Alexander county was giving directions to aid in locating a local landmark, one he had known some 70 years before. Perhaps thinking as in the times of his boyhood, he said, "It is just north of the old pigeon roost," and then he paused. The pigeon roost immediately became more interesting than the landmark sought. His reminiscences concerning it were detailed and vivid.

The old gentleman's mention of the roost suggested other localities like Bear Track Hollow, Rattlesnake Ferry, Goose Creek, Beaver Dam, Eagle Cliff, Otter Slides, Deer Lick, Buffalo Wallow, Possum Flat, Coon Creek, and Panther Hollow. It also brought to mind two more pigeon roosts known to have existed in southern Illinois—one in Hardin and another in Hamilton county. There were surely several others, now forgotten. His mention of the Alexander county roost also revived interest in the greatest bird tragedy in all history.

Once a Common Bird

The passenger pigeon, much resembling the common mourning or turtle dove but much larger, was once the commonest bird in America. Competent ornithologists estimate that their number was at one time as great as five billion, that would be more than thirty birds for each person now living in the region they ranged. They then made up about one third of the bird population of North America. Their regular range was over the forested regions of the continent east of the Rockies and north from the Gulf of Mexico to the Hudson Bay country. The beech and oak trees that furnished the bulk of their foods were common in southern Illinois, and millions of these pigeons came here to feed. They were voracious birds, and in addition to the beech nuts and acorns they ate almost all kinds of seeds, fruits and insects.

They were very gregarious—migrating, nesting, roosting and feeding in flocks of many millions. The first report found regarding these pigeons in Illinois tells of a massed flight observed at the mouth of the Ohio on October 16, 1700. After that, missionaries, explorers, travellers, and settlers mention them and tell of their almost inconceivable numbers. These reports, with the flights gradually growing smaller, continue until about 1890. No records of massed flights have been found since then. End of Species

In early September, 1914, a St. Louis newspaper carried a short paragraph or "filler" between larger articles. This terse announcement of about 20 words said that the last surviving specimen of the passenger pigeon had died on the first of that month in the Zoological Garden at Cincinnati, Ohio. So far as is known, the death of this bird, called "Martha" for Mrs. Washington, marked the end of the species. This was 380 years after their first mention by Cartier, the French navigator, who had observed them at Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on July 1, 1534. He saw "myriads" of them.

Three great flights observed and recorded by competent men help to a realization of the once great passenger pigeon population. The first of these was made by an ornithologist, Alexander Wilson, at Benson Creek as he journeyed from Shelbyville to Frankfort, Kentucky in 1811. This column he stopped to observe was over a mile wide and was more than four hours in passing before Wilson had to resume his journey, leaving the flight still under way. In the time Wilson observed the flight, he estimated that 2,230,000 pigeons passed by.

Huge Flights

John James Audubon observed another flight in Kentucky in 1831 and estimated that it contained more than a billion birds. Major King, commander of a fort in the province of Toronto, Canada, observed and made record of another flight that was more than ten hours passing over his post and that contained an estimated 3,717,000,000 birds. Writers commented upon the smooth gyrations and graceful maneuvers of the pigeons in flight. Careful observers credited them with a speed of a mile a minute. They were sometimes referred to as "blue meteors."

By the mid-1850's a decrease in the number of passenger pigeons was becoming apparent to careful observers and efforts to afford them some protection were begun. Not much favorable sentiment was aroused, however. The report of a committee appointed by the Ohio State Legislature is typical of the general reaction—or rather, inaction. This committee said in 1857, "The passenger pigeon needs no protection. Wonderfully prolific, having the vast forests of the north as its breeding grounds, travelling hundreds of miles in search of food, it is here today and far away tomorrow. No ordinary destruction can lessen the myriads that are yearly produced."

Other states assumed about the same attitude. Massachusetts, one of the first states to legislate concerning the passenger pigeon, enacted a law that is somewhat ironic. This law forbade anyone to use firearms within a half mile of the baited grounds where nets were set to entrap the pigeons. It was not to protect the birds, but to protect the trapper. No legislation to protect the pigeon has been found for Illinois.

Birds Destroyed

Men continued to destroy the pigeons at their roosting and nesting places—particularly at the nesting places, where they were destroyed by shooting, netting, trapping with the use of stool pigeons whose eyes were sewed shut, and clubbing. The squabs were punched from the nests by long poles or jarred from them by battering rams, applied against the trees. In some cases the trees in the roosting or nesting areas were chopped down at night while loaded with pigeons or nests containing squabs. Sulphur was burned beneath the roosts to smother the birds. Adult birds roosting on shrubs and the lower limbs of trees were clubbed to death. Millions of live birds were used by "sportsmen" at trap shoots. These live birds often had their tail feathers cut or toes clipped. This was said to have made them livelier.

Millions of birds were shipped to city markets where a plucked bird sometimes sold for only a penny or so, seldom for more than a nickel each. Live birds nested and stall fed brought more. Some

REPORT FROM THE ARCTIC: DEW Line Could Be Future Missile Base

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

ABOVE THE ARCTIC CIRCLE—(NEA)—An ideal foundation has been laid for a 3,000-mile string of offensive-defensive guided missile bases across the top of the North American continent.

A tour of the full length of the Distant Early Warning radar line—the first visit ever approved for newsmen—reveals this startling fact: The DEW line was built primarily to warn of enemy bomber attack.

U. S. and Canadian officials refuse to comment on whether converting DEW line sites was considered in the original planning.

But whether by design or luck the obvious fact remains that the DEW line can easily be made into the guided missile equivalent of America's war-detering Strategic Air Command and Air Defense Command.

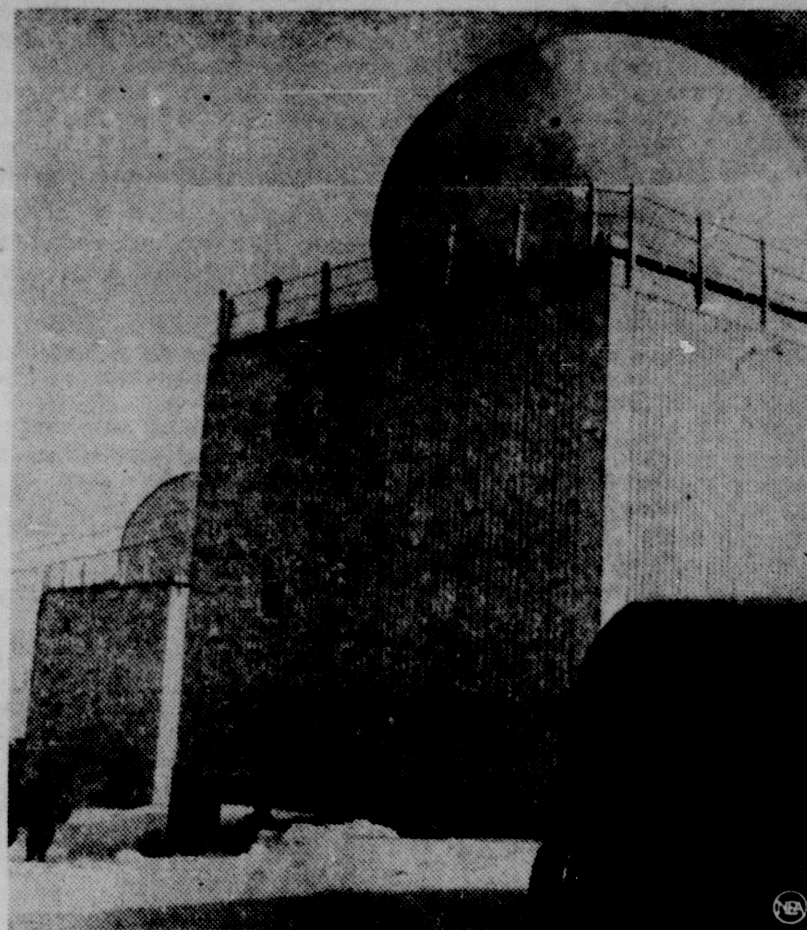

Just as for enemy bombers, the route over the Arctic to U. S. cities entail missiles which the Russians is the shortest for the intercontinental building. And the Arctic will be the place to base the anti-missile missiles which the U. S. is trying to develop.

DEW line sites also are the ideal locations for the retaliatory intermediate range ballistic missiles—able to travel 1,500 miles—which the U. S. is rushing to build. From the Arctic the IRBM could hit vital Russian industrial targets.

Actually, when the DEW line is completed it will be far more than a "foundation" for missile bases. The U. S. Air Force, its contractor Western Electric Co. and the Canadians have already done about 75 per cent of the job by licking the unbelievable difficulties of extensive construction work in the Arctic.

Excellent aerial, sea and sled-train supply lines effectively criss-cross this vast frozen region, depending upon the season. The terror of survival up here has been eliminated by excellent clothing, shelter and experience.

DEW LINE RADAR STATIONS, like this one on Baffin Island, offer possibilities for conversion into guided missile bases.

HIGH ABOVE THE FROZEN NORTH, an Air Force plane wings over Arctic terrain that typifies the 3,000 mile DEW Line system.

Each DEW line station is a small, completely self-sufficient unit designed to support constant radar surveillance of the skies. Altering that mission for guided missile operation probably would be much less than the original $400 million cost of the DEW line.

Living quarters and housing for most of the electronic equipment are long rows of box-shaped, connected buildings built on timber stilts to eliminate snow drifting. Adding more rows, or making them longer would be a simple job compared to starting from scratch. The bigger DEW stations have huge garages built of structural steel and covered with aluminum panels. These, too, are designed for easy expansion.

The garages are heated and have elaborate machine shops. Little redesign would be necessary to adapt them for missile storage.

Powerful diesel generators to run the electronic equipment and provide power for other needs are built into the box-like structures. They, too, could supply power for the electronic needs of missile guidance and tracking systems. It's obvious from the excellent materials and equipment which have been used for the DEW line that the installations were built to last between 50 and 100 years.

Missiles are delicate electronic devices probably difficult to operate under Arctic conditions. But radar is delicate, too. And experience has proved that it can be operated with extreme effectiveness up here.

Rigid security restrictions cover details of the effectiveness of DEW line radar. But U. S. officials are convinced that it will give a three to five hour warning of the approach of any jet aircraft.

By the time Russia has effective missiles, U. S. and Canadian officials are confident that effective missile countermeasures also will be developed.

Allen Recalls Major Changes In '100' Address

CARBONDALE, Ill. — John W. Allen, Southern Illinois university historian, recalled some of the major changes that had taken place in his lifetime in southern Illinois when he talked at the semi-annual meeting of the Educational Council of 100 here April 22.

Allen said he remembered seeing covered wagons heading west and taught in schools that had budgets amounting to $21 per year per student. He has watched the disappearance of log schools and log homes in the area and has seen illiteracy practically vanish, reported Allen, who is currently president of the Illinois State Historical Society.

At a business meeting in the Southern Illinois University Cafeteria, Council members were told of plans for the Summer Education conference to be held at SIU in connection with the Bookmen's Exhibit July 10-11. Dr. Eugene Fitzpatrick, acting chairman of Southern's department of guidance and special education, said the theme this year would be "Mental Health and the Schools."

Norman Beck, Monroe County superintendent of schools and chairman of the Council's Outdoor Education committee, said the State of Illinois has completed an access road to the Council's Si-Bo-Gi Camp on Little Grassy Lake, and the committee hopes to be able to extend the road through volunteer efforts on a special work day which has not been set as yet.

Beck said he was giving up the chairmanship of the committee because of the pressure of other duties. He will be succeeded by Robert McBride, assistant professor of recreation and outdoor education at Southern.

Council members approved two constitutional amendments. One establishes a 12-member board of directors which will include elected officers and one director from each of eight districts in Southern Illinois. The other amendment invests in the board authority to appoint the Council's executive secretary.

The next meeting of the Council will be held in October.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

14 Members of General Assembly Seek to Change Jobs This Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—Fourteen members of the Illinois General Assembly seek to change jobs this year. One is a candidate for U. S. Senator, another for district congress, nine representatives want to move up to the state senate, one state senator is bidding for a House seat and another is running for a circuit court clerkship, and another state representative is a candidate for Chicago Sanitary District trustee.

State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, heads the list. He was nominated in the April 10 primary as the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator. Stengel, once House floor spokesman for former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, is currently a fourth term member in the Illinois House. He will oppose Republican incumbent Everett M. Dirksen, Pekin, for the U. S. Senate this November.

The solon who seeks to be a member of the National House of Representatives is State Rep. Martin P. Sutor, Galesburg. He is the Democrat nominee for congress from the 19th district in Western Illinois. A first term in the General Assembly House, Sutor will oppose veteran Republican incumbent Robert B. Chipfield, Canton, in the election this fall.

The nine state representatives who are trying to move up to the Senate are Arthur W. Sprague, LaGrange; Joseph R. Peterson, Princeton; Herschel S. Green, West York; Mrs. Pauline Rinaker, Carlinville; William Lyons, Gillespie; Carl Prehls, Pana; Clarence E. Sprinkle, Assumption; Paul Ziegler, Carmi; and Richard R. Larson, Galesburg.

The state senator who is running for the House of Representatives is Democrat William G. Clark, 32, Chicago. He served one House term in 1953-1954 and was elected to the Senate in 1954. He gives up two remaining years in his four-year senate term to run for the house but there's reason. Democrat organization leaders are said to have slated him for the House Democrat leadership in the next session.

Clark won Democrat nomination for the House from the 16th representative district in the April 10th primary. Because the 16th is a district where major party agreements provide for nomination of only one Republican and of two Democrats Clark is a sure winner in November. If Democrats win house control Clark probably would be the next speaker. Otherwise he would be the House minority leader.

To pave the way for Clark, State Rep. James J. Ryan, Chicago, who was House minority leader in the 69th General Assembly, has been nominated for Chicago Sanitary District trustee. Only possible hitch in plans to install Clark as House Democrat leader is Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna, certain of fall election. Powell might easily be the choice of downstate Democrats for the speakership.

The 70th Illinois General Assembly which convenes here next January, will have at least 83 new faces. They will include a minimum of 17 new senators and 66 representatives. Number of senators to be elected is 36, there being 22 holdovers from odd numbered districts. Number of representatives to be elected from 59 districts is 177.

Rival major party senate leaders certain to be in the next session because they are holdovers are Sens. Arthur J. Bidwell, River Forest, Republican president pro tem, and William J. Lynch, Democrat minority leader. Former House Speaker Paul Powell, Vienna, and Rep. Clyde L. Choate, Anna, minority whip last year, are two Democrats whose nominations were equivalent to reelection.

Some Republican incumbent representatives whose primary nominations were equivalent to certain election because of major party preprimary agreements, include: Gordon E. Kerr, Brookport; J. Lisle Lauffer, Hampshire; C. W. Clabaugh and Ora Dillavon, both of Champaign; Mrs. Maud Peffer, Aurora; Charles K. Willett, Dixon; George S. Brydia, Prophetstown; and Harold W. Widmer, Freeport.

Plans for another Antique Automobile and Sports Car meet at the Illinois State Fair here this year have been announced by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline. There will be three major classifications — antique, special merit and sports. Prizes will be awarded a grand champion and to winners in the various subclasses. Carpenter hopes for a bigger entry list over last year when 189 from Illinois and other midwestern states competed. During the fair—August 10 through the 19th—

Overseas Journeys Formed
Kefauver's Foreign PolicyBy PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — No candidate should aspire to the U. S. presidency without some grasp of foreign affairs. So how does Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee qualify on this count?

Being too young for World War I and too old for World War II, Kefauver has no overseas military record.

He was elected to Congress in 1939. In the Senate since 1948, he has served on the Armed Services Committee. This has given him a schooling on national defense, and he has junketed to many overseas bases.

To build up his knowledge of international affairs, Kefauver made a trip around the world last year. He talked with Premier Bulganin and Communist Secretary Khrushchev in Moscow, Nehru in India, President Rhee in Korea.

Kefauver also made a swing through Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. He visited Southeast Asia's trouble spots.

IT IS FROM these personal contacts, plus his general experience in Congress, that Kefauver has built up the foreign policy program he is now offering to American voters.

On the number one issue of relations with Russia, Kefauver told the Overseas Press Club in New York after his trip around the world: "Frankly, I am in favor of more trade with Russia. We have more to gain than they do."

"I don't think a change in Russia will again come through revolution. The hope is that new leaders, as yet uncrowned, will understand that our system produces more than theirs."

"But don't misunderstand me," he hastened to add. "I am not talking about Russia's present leadership. Bulganin and Khrushchev make a smart and effective team. . . . I am personally willing to match the Soviet step by step. But I would not abandon NATO or the Voice of America and I would not drop our guard for some time to come."

WITH REGARD to the satellite countries, Kefauver declared that: "We must keep up their courage and anticipate the day when they can win over the forces of communism. We must take the initiative in opening up the satellite nations."

Kefauver's views on Southeast Asia were revealed in a later talk before the Indiana State Teachers Association.

"The future of Southeast Asia will be determined by a bitter struggle between India and China," he predicted.

"All the Asians want to know is if they must sacrifice personal liberties in exchange for enough to eat. China says, 'Yes.' India says, 'No.' If China wins, it won't be long until the Red Star is over Asia. If India wins, democracy wins."

"This poses a difficult problem for us," Kefauver said in summary. "Until recently, America was the ideal of freedom-loving peoples. Asia now doubts us. We must assist in an unobtrusive way, remaining in the background."

Kefauver's policy on the more current Middle East crisis was outlined during his Florida primary campaign. He criticized the Eisenhower administration for failing to explain that preservation of peace depended on U. S. help to Israel in obtaining arms for self-defense.

HIS PROPOSED solution is a top-level conference of Jews, Arabs, Americans British and French to search for peace. "If these negotiations should fail," he said, "we would at least know what the score is and could act accordingly."

Kefauver has also criticized the Eisenhower administration for failing to take a firm position on Quemoy and Matsu, for allowing NATO relations to deteriorate and for having lost the initiative in the cold war against Russia.

More Than 7,000
Civil War Widows

Still Get Pensions

WASHINGTON — The two mighty armies of the Civil War have divided from 3,500,000 men to four. But the widows of participants in that conflict still are almost a brigade strong.

Nearly a century after the outbreak of the war, more than 7,000 widows are receiving pensions or compensation payments from the federal government or from 14 southern and border states.

The Veterans Administration showed 4,931 Union widows on its rolls in February. The South, which takes care of its own, could muster 2,183 widows of the men in gray, according to a United Press survey of the 11 states of the old Confederacy plus the border states of Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Missouri.

Payments Vary

Albert Woolson, 109, of Duluth,
Minn., is the sole survivor of the 2-900,000 men who fought for the North.

Three old soldiers are left of the estimated 600,000 who answered the South's call to arms. They are John Salling, 109, of Slant, Va.;
William Lundy, 107, of Laurel Hill,
Fla., and Walter W. Williams, 109, of Franklin, Tex.

Union widows receive monthly checks—either pensions or compensation payments—ranging from $40.64 to $87, depending upon several factors, including whether their husbands had service-connected disabilities.

Amounts paid to the Confederate

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Page Three, Section Three Wednesday, April 25, 1956

widows range from $30 a month in Oklahoma—pro-Southern Indian territory during the war—to a whopping $478 monthly in Missouri which was held in the Union by northern sympathizers. The latter figure, however, is for the care of just one widow, an invalid who requires a home and full-time care.

Mexican War Widows

The average monthly compensation payment is about $85 in the South, according to computation by the General Relief Committee of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.
Nine of the states also provide a funeral grant for Confederate widows.

Survivors of U. S. wars draw pensions long after they have ended.

The last veteran of the American Revolution died in 1889, at the age of 109. The last widow of a Revolutionary War veteran died in 1906 at 92. The last veteran of the War of 1812 died in 1905 and the last dependent in 1946, VA records show.

The VA still is sending checks to more than 1,200 widows whose husbands fought in the Mexican War of 1848 and in the Indian wars which spanned almost a century, from 1817 to 1898.

Double Duty Dresses for Bridesmaids

Favorite dress of the 1956 bridesmaid is one with cover-up, designed to go partying on many occasions when the wedding ceremony is over. Full-skirted dress with long torso line (left) is in apricot color, has yoke and small sleeves of tulle. Tulle treatment is used again at neckline of dress (center) with flat bow at hipline. This is in ice blue. The empire line appears (right) in lemon yellow dress with net top and skirt width achieved through soft, unpressed pleats. All three designs are by Murray Hamburger in chromspun taffeta. Best length for a bridesmaid's dress this year is the ballerina.

Expect Largest Open House in Anna Hospital History

Plans are now complete which will make this year's Open House at the Anna State hospital, Sunday, April 29, from 1:30 to 4 p. m., the biggest Open House in the history of the hospital. Dr. R. C. Steck, superintendent, announced today.

The Anna State hospital serves the 25 southern counties in Illinois, and has a patient population ranging from between 2400 to 2500. Concerning this, Dr. Steck said recently, "There is hardly a person in these 25 counties who does not have a friend, relative, or neighbor who is or has been a patient at the hospital, and because of this, we feel that the citizens in this area will enjoy visiting us during Open House."

Last year the hospital was host to the largest Open House Day crowd in its history, and the largest crowd of any of the state hospitals. Because of the increased interest in mental illness, the nation's number one health problem, all formal type programs will be dispensed with this year. Instead, it is the wish of hospital officials that conducted tours through the hospital be available for visitors all afternoon during Open House. For those people who do not want to take a tour, the Psychology Department of the hospital has arranged for an informative movie regarding mental illness, as well as having department employees available to answer any questions that visitors might have regarding the hospital.

Band of Ministers Rebuilds a Church

UDALL, Kan. (AP) — Forty-five ministers of the Church of Nazarene have rebuilt the Nazarene

Church here which was destroyed in a 1953 tornado. The ministers put up siding, nailed down shingles and laid floorings. Some of them are over 60 years of age, and some traveled more than 150 miles to aid in the work.

Melvin Siener, Festus Paul to Direct Massed Bands at SIU Music Festival

Melvin Siener

Festus W. Paul

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Melvin Siener of Du Quoin and Festus W. Paul of Sparta will direct the massed high school and elementary bands at the Southern Illinois Spring Music Festival here the night of May 12.

More than 3,000 young musicians from 41 downstate communities will provide the bulk of the entertainment during the seventh annual event, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. in Southern Illinois University's McAndrew Stadium. Twice that many spectators from Illinois and surrounding states are expected to be in the stadium grandstands.

Siener, conductor of the group of 200 massed high school bandsmen, has been director of music at Du Quoin Township high school since 1949. Under his direction the band has won the District Music Contest three times and the state championship once. An SIU graduate, he received a master's degree from the University of Iowa.

Paul has directed the Sparta Township high school band for nine years and the Sparta grade school band for seven. His high school band has won the district music contest sweepstakes trophy for the past three years and has been consistently successful in state competition. He received bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Missouri. The massed elementary band which he will direct will number 200 grade school musicians.

Highlighting this year's "Music Under the Stars" program will be a solo appearance by Virginia Haskins, operatic soprano who was born in Centralia. Other attractions are the 150-piece Joliet high school band, the Marion Harris Boy Scout Indian Dancers, massed elementary and high school choruses and the recognition, by SIU President Delyte W. Morris, of the year's "Honored Musician." Wisconsin cows produced 16,500,000,000 pounds of milk in 1954, more than is produced in any other state and more than 13 per cent of all the milk produced in the United States.
